YOU WILL LEARN...

a comprehensive theory of relationships, and how to apply this theory in your practice working with couples.

how to identify core relationship issues—getting beneath the surface so that you can create change on the deepest levels.

a variety of powerful interventions which will increase your effectiveness and confidence working with even the most difficult couples.

a model that teaches couples how to move "from conflict to connection," and to utilize their relationship for growth and healing.

your own relationship dynamics, and how to apply this knowledge for personal growth and healing for the enhancement of your own intimate relationships.
